Action Information
Description: Seven transformers went down and all are believed to have released some amount of oil. It is unknown if the oil contained PCBs. The transformers are all being taken back to shop and will undergo laboratory analysis. The results will be available by Wednesday. The cleanup is underway and will go into the night. The oil which migrated into the storm drain released into the ditch. The oil was captured in the ditch and did not make it to a waterway. They will clean the ditch and storm drain tomorrow.
